Calls on Liberty Theatre Crowd to "Bust Top Off the Loan Thermometer"

Secretary McAdoo as a salesman of Liberty bonds yesterday afternoon at the Liberty Theatro,, at the Public Library, in fifteen minutes persuaded the crowd to buy bonds to the value of $30,000. Later he invested in seven It was all impromptu. The Secretary and Mrs. McAdoo and Colonel House were strolling down Fifth Avenue and all at once found themselves at the Liberty Theatre.

Traffic was stopped in front of the Library and Mr. and Mrs. McAdoo were escorted to the platform, while the crowd which had been large before, filled the entire roadway from Forty-second Street down to Fortieth. "I had figured that my campaign for the Liberty Loan ended in Rochester last night," said Mr. McAdoo. "I will say, however, that this speech of mine is going to cost money, so you might as well prepare to foot the bill on the spot. We are here to sell Liberty bonds, and if it will prove any incentive, I will agree to place my autograph on all bonds sold while I am permitted to remain here. Secretary McAdoo then noticed the Liberty Loan thermometer on the wall of a building across the street from the library, and called the attention of the crowd to it.
